“ My heart has been so heavy since learning of Campbell's death. I have long thought about how to express to you my experience with Campbell. Today I I saw this expressed and this is not a direct quote. When Jesus learned that His dear friend Lazarus had passed, He wept. When I learned my favorite cashier was gone, I ugly cried in the middle of the store. Not just because she was gone but having lost my adult son I wept because I know some of the hurt. My son had his first yet fatal heart attack. His death came without warning and I fell in the floor screaming.

Yes I grieve deeply for Campbell. I grieve for her but I also pray for you so often.

Grieving is Biblical. Jesus knew that He would raise Lazarus but Jesus felt the grief Lazarus' family had and He wept with them. I weep with you.

“ I don't know where to begin. My heart aches for the loss of your daughter Campbell. We met last year and I loved her from the first second we met. She was roommates with my daughter. We curled up in her bed and watched the presidential debates and had the best time bantering back and forth about the candidates. I visited about every 3 months and we grew closer as a result. Campbell always had smile on her face and was a pleasure to be around. My last time with Campbell was May 7th, graduation day for my daughter. Although she could not make the graduation event, she rushed over after her shift at work. Campbell brought me flowers for mothers day which was the next day. We laughed, reminisced, and had a really good visit. My heart is broken as I know yours is as well. My the lord comfort those that morn. My daughter and I truley loved and miss Campbell, she was a true friend to all that knew her.
