“ My sympathies go out to the family. Little Richard is what we called him. My ex husband Roger Cole and Richard spent a lot of time together on the river. Its was always a fun time with Richard, he laughed and joked all the time. There was never a dull moment when Little Richard was around, and he never met a stranger. Richard had thousands of friends and everyone looked out for him. My prayers for family and friends in the coming days. Fly high little Richard
