“ The Family of David Orange

David was like a brother to me back in our High School days. One of many best friends that a person could ask for when we were growing up. His sincere respect for people back in the day was very admirable asset. I have thought of David many times during the past years and wanted to visit him and just kept putting it off. David will always be in my mind for years to come as the best friend I lost by putting thing off. I know his family members will be at a loss at this time, but time, memories and love will endure. God will be with the family in days to follow.
