

James Louis Sellers

December 14, 1952 - August 28, 2020

James Louis Sellers, 67, of Blacksburg, Virginia passed away on August 28, 2020, from complications brought on by COVID-19. Jim was born in Danville, Virginia on December 14, 1952, and he lived most of his life in Blacksburg, Virginia. He was predeceased by his parents, Louis F. Sellers and Elsie M. Sellers of Ringgold, Virginia. He is survived by his wife of forty-one years, Charlotte Pauley Sellers and by sons Christopher Keeling Sellers of Washington, D.C. and Cameron Moorefield Sellers of Blacksburg. Jim is also survived by his sister Tine Brown of Chatham, Virginia and his brother, Homer Evans (Faye) of Halifax, Virginia. He leaves behind a brother-in-law Richard Pauley (Sandy) of Buchanan, Virginia and a number of loving nieces, nephews, and cousins.

Jim graduated from Dan River High School in Pittsylvania County. He graduated from Virginia Tech with his undergraduate degree in Geography. Jim would go on to earn a Master's in Social Studies Education and a doctorate in Curriculum and Instruction from Virginia Tech as well. Jim was a career educator having begun his teaching career as a social studies teacher at Blacksburg High School. Jim would spend much of his career in education in Montgomery County Public Schools, serving as Principal of Price's Fork Elementary and Principal of Blacksburg Middle, as well as serving as a central office administrator in various roles, from curriculum supervisor to assistant superintendent for instruction, and later as interim superintendent for the school division. Jim would retire from Radford University where he continued to teach as adjunct faculty in the Educational Leadership program. Even in retirement, he continued to work part-time in education. He served as Executive Director of Western Virginia Public Education Consortium (WVPEC) in Radford; he worked in the Virginia Tech School of Education as an Assessment Coordinator, as well as a clinical faculty member in Educational Leadership at Virginia Tech. Most recently, Jim enjoyed his work traveling the country and abroad as an instructor and assessor for NCBRT, a grant out of LSU in support of Homeland Security. Education was important to Jim.

Beyond his career, Jim cherished his faith and he put that faith into action, serving as an elder, a Sunday school teacher, and currently he served as Board Chair at Blacksburg Christian Church. Likewise, he also treasured his family. He supported, motivated and challenged us in each endeavor we encountered. He guided us, mentored us, consoled us, laughed with us, and he left us in a prime position to tackle the challenges that life has left to offer. Moreover, he showed us how to support one another; how to love work and life itself; how to respect all people; how to be kind to everyone. He demonstrated how to love a wife and children without fail, while still holding us accountable to the high standards he set for himself.

A celebration of life for Jim will be held at a drive-in service at Blacksburg Christian Church at 240 Watson Avenue in Blacksburg on Wednesday evening, September 2, 2020, at 6:30 p.m.

The family especially appreciates the outpouring of love and support demonstrated in recent days as Jim battled his brief illness. Likewise, the family appreciates the medical care he received at Lewis Gale Hospital Montgomery and Lewis Gale Medical Center Salem. In remembrance of Jim you may make contributions to Blacksburg Christian Church's Educational Scholarship Fund which helps those furthering their education. Otherwise, you may give your time to support someone you see in need. In doing so, you will be serving to further the legacy of Jim Sellers.

McCoy Funeral Home in Blacksburg is handling arrangements.

“ Mr. Sellers was my teacher at Blacksburg Middle School way back when. He was fun and always tried to make students comfortable and wanting to learn geography.

“ I met Jim a few years ago when he led an instructor workshop I was in: one of the best classes - and best teaching performances - I've seen, and I've seen a lot. After the class was done I expressed my appreciation and still chuckle at his response, "Well, the test is graded and class is done, so the only reason you could have for saying that is that you really mean it!" I did indeed. I still use much of what I learned, which is as good a tribute as there is. I'm so sorry that he's gone, so glad I was able to meet him and share a small piece of his life.

“ I’m heartbroken over the loss of my Uncle Jim. I’m sitting here looking at his picture and wondering why God called him home so soon. Reading all the memories makes me realize how many lives he influenced in a positive way. My memories include fun family gatherings especially at Thanksgiving and Christmas. Each summer I would spend at least 2 weeks with Granny Seller’s as we called her. Jimmy would always “play school” with us and he was always the teacher. We would stay up late at night watching TV and Granny Sellers would always bring us snacks and all kinds of good food from the truck stop where she worked. Those were very special times. Jimmy always encouraged me to further my education and him and Charlotte were so supportive and helpful when I went to VCOM. I will never forget their kindness. As I sit here and look at his picture, I can only think the reason God took him so soon is heaven must have needed another angel. May your spirit fly high Uncle Jim and tell Granny and Louis I love and miss them❤️

“ Mr. Sellers (as I knew him from 9th grade geography) was unquestionably one of the most influential teachers in my educational career. Though I ended up in a field very distant to geography, his impact on my learning and career was significant. I can't thank him enough for his teaching and mentoring. He will not be forgotten.

“ I remember well the great times Jim and I had teaching in the Ed Leadership program at Radford University. He had a positive impact on everyone he met, and there are so few people of whom that can be said. He was a treasured friend as well as an incomparably great colleague! Condolences to Charlotte and the boys!

“ I am deeply saddened by the loss of a true professional and all around great person. I have worked with Jim at NCBRT for many years and have many fond memories of our interactions. He loved our course and its instructors and made both better with his insightful evaluations. My deepest condolences to Jim’s family. Please take solace in knowing that Jim has literally positively impacted the lives of thousands of people over his lifetime, because of his work, but more importantly because of the way he lived his life. Thank you for sharing Jim with us.

“ In 1996, at the age of 46, i returned to college to become a middle school teacher.I was fortunate to encounter many excellent teachers at RU, and Dr. Sellars was one of the best. I do not remember what class he taught, but i do remember that he helped me become a better human being.

“ Helen Heavener
I have served on several committees at church with Jim over the years. What a leader! Most people can be replaced when they leave this world ... not Jim. Every Christmas Jim would ask if I wanted an emerald or ruby for Christmas. He would then give me a green or red lollipop ring . What a sense of humor! As he entered Heaven I am sure he heard ...WELL DONE THOU GOOD AND FAITHFUL SERVANT!

“ Having worked with Jim for many years through the Montgomery County Council of PTA's and while on the school board, I am sooo sad that Jim is no longer with us, but I will never forget him. Jim was truly one of the best educator!!! How blessed we were to have him for so many years with our students. My prayers and thoughts are with you all. Phyllis Albritton

“ I knew Jim briefly...time well spent, though. Jim was one of my instructors in a workshop through NCBRT. Workshop is a bit of a misnomer because the content was rich and the bar was set pretty high! Jim had a seemingly effortless and refreshing ability to motivate through individualized feedback that was both detailed, balanced and ultimately, effective. He created a uniquely safe environment where mistakes trumped perfection. Everyone emerged better than they were before. I'm fortunate to have learned from Jim and I'm thankful for that experience. I'll remember him!

“ My deepest condolences to the Sellers family. I knew "Mr. Sellers" from my early elementary days at Prices Fork. I remember him walking into the classroom in his suit and thinking he looked like a well dressed, smiling giant (to a first grader he was VERY tall). He always seemed to be smiling and spoke very compassionately. Prayers of comfort and peace to all his loved ones.

“ Jim was not only fellow LSU-NCBRT instructor, but also a friend and downright good-hearted person. Jim was the definition of an exemplary person, not only on a professional level but also on a personal level. He was an extraordinary person, good hearted, honest, articulate and focused on making you a better person, why, because Jim could see the potential in everyone. A better person, a better instructor, a better teacher, and a better student. I know he will use his magic in heaven to the betterment of all. With heavy heart I say, you will be missed.

“ I was a geography student of Mr Sellers at BHS many years ago. We all loved him. I had a meeting with him years later about my own 4th grader, he was a good listener and we talked about me being married with kids. He said you look the same, I replied so do you. I'm so glad I got to see him again even though much time has past, I never forgot him. Praying for you're family. 🙏

“ I had the privilege of teaching with Jim for nearly 10 years as a co-instructor delivering numerous instructor training workshops across the country. Jim possessed the perfect mix of human qualities that appealed to all of his participants and fellow instructors alike. I say "his" because he adopted all of us as his own. He had the uncanny ability to disarm potentially challenging and contentious issues with dignity and grace. The end result--participants and instructors became a cohesive and enthusiastic team yearning to learn more. He transformed even the most dubious participant. Jim's accolades are many...he was among the most genuine, honest and committed professionals I have ever met. Jim's stellar legacy will endure long into the future...

“ I moved to Blacksburg in the 90s and shortly afterward met Jim when he was walking in the neighborhood and stopped to ask if I played tennis. This was the beginning of a great friendship that included lots of tennis, trips with our kids to New York City and various roller coaster amusement parks, home repair (not always successful!), and lots of laughter. I left Blacksburg 6 years later but visited every fall—one of the highlights of my year. He was a true friend and I will genuinely miss him.

“ I had the pleasure of knowing Jim through LSU. Jim played a vital role in my growth and development as an educator. His knowledge, guidance and manner in which he presented himself was truly inspiring. The love he had for his craft was palpable. He passed along his knowledge in a manner in which created an environment of inclusiveness; his feedback made us all want to be better. I will use the guidance that Jim offered me as a way to carry on his legacy. I wish Jim and his family peace. He will be truly missed. - Joseph Delre
