

Jennifer S Newcomb

February 17, 2023

Jennifer S Newcomb died at 74 on Friday after successfully completing all the tasks she aspired to accomplish. She could find anything you wanted and make anything you needed. She was a loving and supportive wife, a doting and instructive mother, and a maker of beautiful things as a fiber artist. She served in many capacities and helped many people. She is survived by her husband, John, her children, Elisabeth(Nitish), Bobby(Tara), and Billy(Eva), and eight grandchildren, Baylen, Levi, Lydia, Leila, and Luke Newcomb and Rohan, Atri, and Indra Sinha. They all miss her a lot.

“ I knew Jennifer through the spinner's group. She was always mentoring new spinners, inspiring her old friends, and helping to solve or unravel any fiber issues. She often spoke about her family at our meetings and especially enjoyed visits from her children and grandchildren. She lived an enthusiastic and adventurous life. I will miss her friendship and inspiration.

“ Jennifer was a force to be reckoned with. I knew her through the Handweavers Guild of the NRV and will miss her carefree, bold and innovative weaving style. She was always willing to share her knowledge with others, and we learned much from her.

“ I meet Jennifer as a spinner, and then as a weaver. Her vitality, joy and boldness in her work and personality were a wonder to behold and to be enveloped in. I wish all her family and friends some peace and shared stories. Jennifer certainly enjoyed the stories. I will miss her.

“ What an inspiring woman!! She was so full of life and creativity, so eager to share and help and support her friends (and of course, her family). She brought cheer and energy to the lives of so many of us. We will miss her intensely, and send our love and care to her family.
