

Judith Lyn Tibbits Day

August 5, 1935 - September 20, 2025

Judith Lyn Tibbits Day died on 20 September 2025. Lyn was born in Rockford, Illinois to the late Evelyn Kellogg Tibbits and Laurence Hyde Tibbits. She is predeceased by her husband of 56 years, Richard Allen Day. She is survived by her son, Eric Day (Nan Gray) of Craig County; daughter, Sylvia Day (Kaushik Roy) of Cookham Dean, England; four grandchildren; and four great-grandchildren.

Lyn graduated with a BS from Boston University and MEd from the University of Cincinnati. She directed a nursery school for many years and started a parent education program in an inner-city pediatric clinic, working specially with teen moms. Mid-career she transitioned to fund raising for nonprofit organizations. She retired from an international fund-raising consulting firm where she served a wide variety of clients.

Lyn had a lifelong interest in hand weaving, having studied briefly in Norway and Denmark, as well as the Art Institute of Chicago and at classes of weaver's guilds. She enjoyed classical music, gardening, and traveling to many places in Central and South America to see the weaving and enjoy the tropical environment. Her membership in the Society of Friends (Quaker) was a commitment she demonstrated in many forms of service. She has lived at Warm Hearth Village for 17 years.

A memorial service will be held at Blacksburg Friends Meeting at a later date.

In lieu of flowers, a contribution in her name may be made to Blacksburg Friends Meeting, P.O. Box 327, Blacksburg, VA 24063 or the Neighbors in Need Fund of Warm Hearth Village.
